Improper Use of Cooper and Avon Tyres on Caravans

Coopertires designs and manufactures a wide range of tyres designed for use in various consumer, commercial and motorsport applications. However, Coopertires does not presently manufacture any tyres that are designed to be used on caravans.

It is has come to our attention that some garages or consumers may be improperly selecting certain Avon and Cooper tyres for use on caravans. Presently, we do not recommend any Avon or Cooper tyres for use on caravans, as we do not design any of our tyres for such use. Accordingly, the use of any Avon or Cooper tyre on a caravan will void any warranty associated with that tyre, and no concessions will be given if a tyre that has been used on a caravan is returned to us for any reason.

If you have questions regarding the selection of an appropriate tyre for use on a caravan, we recommend that you consult the applicable caravan owner's manual or contact the caravan manufacturer directly to identify tyres (other than Cooper or Avon tyres) which may be suitable for caravan use.
